Wellness at Workplace

The wise in society have made many statements on work prompting the rest to turn their attention towards their attitude to work, possibly to take pride in whatever they do. The expression Work is Worship may have prompted the top brass in the then Government of Mysore of 1950s to display the message Government's Work is God's Work at the front entrance of the building popularly known as Vidhana Soudha that houses the State's Secretariat. The 12th century social reformer, Saint Basavanna is credited with the philosophical expression that work is heavenly. In modern times, the country has witnessed many eminent personalities who are recognised in the society as the very embodiment of work for the well-being of people. The legendary engineer-technocrat-statesman, Sir M. Visvesvaraya (1861-1962) stands out among them. Likening work to worship may help the Mysuru-based flock of self-declared rationalists to soften their harsh remarks on beliefs and customs of various sections of society according to their faiths.

Success, progress and happiness in life are often assured by many public speakers commanding respect in society, provided one works with dedication sticking to work ethics. Loving work done even to earn a livelihood and survive takes away the feeling of hardship and struggle. These vital ingredients of work seem to have suffered a discount in our times.

Healthy outlook to work is a matter of many factors, especially one's ability to expedite the work on hand to not only one's own satisfaction but also that of the management of the respective organisation. Now that the nation is pursuing the task of achieving a totally dirt-free environment on an unprecedented scale, the work that needs to be done doesn't conclude until eternity for obvious reasons. The factor of dirt generation has clearly stumped the factor of clearing the offending mass, reflecting the attitude of people at large towards work. Visible shortfall in the outcome of work done is more pronounced in many fields such as the work of civic staff who sweep the streets and move the garbage mass about which urbanites get the taste everyday.

A study carried out over a year about global workplace culture by a company has inferred that six talent magnets (a) Purpose, (b) Opportunity, (c) Success, (d) Appreciation, (e) Well-being, and (f) Leadership contribute to a significant extent for both organisations and employees to thrive, resulting in unalloyed wellness at workplace.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

For everyone who says that all a marriage requires is two young people in love, here's what it takes: Meetings with families, negotiations on dates, parleys about rituals. It means endless cups of tea and some drinks, assurances, doubt, anxiety, laughter and happiness. It also involves figuring out dates concerning relatives who can only come on a certain day and friends who can't. It means caterers, menus and points of view about whose vote will carry weight. Scotch or malt, wine or champagne? Who'll order the liquor license, who'll take charge of the food? Here's what getting engaged takes: Table settings, sofa placements, cushion sizes and carpets. Should the flowers be yellow or white? Strings of flight or a flood of halogens? — Kishore Singh in Business Standard.

Dutch distillery makes vodka out of tulips

Amsterdam: One small distillery in Holland claims to have perfected a process that allows it to create a high quality vodka out of only two ingredients – tulip bulbs and water.

34-year-old Joris Putman, a filmmaker turned entrepreneur decided he was going to invent something four years ago and he was sure it would involve his country's national symbol, the tulip. After countless experiments and trying to convince others that tulip vodka was actually a thing, Dutch Tulip Vodka is a big hit, and Michelin-star restaurants all over Europe are proud to have it on their menus.

The process behind Dutch Tulip Vodka is a closely guarded secret, but Putman did reveal that the vodka is distilled three times, even though it's a different process to the one used at most distilleries.

Blacksmith forges coolest barbecue

Kremenets: Yaroslav Efremov, a 27-year-old amateur blacksmith from Kremenets, in Ukraine, has created a 200-pound barbecue in the shape of an old ship.

Measuring over 2 meters in length and half a meter in width, this thing looks more like a metal sculpture than a barbecue. It's only when you slide the deck of the ship to reveal the grills in the hull that you realize it serves a practical purpose.

"This was a very hard work," Yaroslav said and added "To create this barbecue-ship, I tried to spend at least a few hours every day working on it" Efremov works as a car mechanic, but he has always had a thing for welding and blacksmith work.

VOICE OF THE READER

This 'stone-studded' stretch needs urgent repair

Sir,

The entire 0.7 km stretch between SBM Colony located next to Roopanagar and the overhead water tank of Bank Colony, Bogadi, which is passing in front of Hari Vidyalaya, is in a very bad condition. It is not known how the local residents are managing with this stone-studded road (see photo).

It is highly risky for two-wheeler riders to ride on this road. This road is a link between SBM Colony and Ring Road, without touching the Bogadi village and can also be used as an alternative road by the residents of Dasanakoppal, Roopanagar and SBM Layout to proceed towards Sharadadevinagar via Outer Ring Road.

Hence, it is requested that the authorities concerned — either the MUDA or the local Panchayat — take up road work at the earliest for the convenience of people residing in these localities.

Bengaluru-Mysuru Highway: All obstacles cleared, says CM

Bengaluru, Oct.24 (KMS&SR)- Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy (HDK) has said that all obstacles coming in the way of upgradation of Bengaluru-Mysuru Highway into a 10-lane Expressway has been cleared and the works will begin soon.

H.D. Kumaraswamy

Speaking to reporters at an interaction organised by Bangalore Reporters Guild and Bengaluru Press Club yesterday, he said that the Government had obtained clearance for the project from Union Ministry of Environment and Forests which was one of the major hurdles for implementation of the project.

"National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) will spend Rs.7,000 crore for this Expressway and we have obtained the required clearances for acquisition of revenue and forest lands and shifting of power lines and poles," he said.

Kumaraswamy said that the Public Works Department Minister H.D. Revanna was spending Rs.36,000 crore for development of National Highways with the support of the Union Government. 3,460 km of National Highways in Bengaluru, Chitradurga, Mangaluru, Kalaburagi, Ballari, Ramanagaram and Tumakuru districts were being upgraded into four and six-lane roads, he added

The CM said that the government will spend Rs.10 lakh for the construction of two-bedroom house for every flood and landslip victim of Kodagu. Over 1,000 houses will be constructed there, he added.

Educational loans to be waived off: HDK

Kumaraswamy announced that the Government was considering waiving off education loans taken by students from economically backward families.

He said that he has asked officials to compile information on student loans that are outstanding.

According to an estimate by the State-Level Bankers' Committee (SLBC), education loan borrowings for 2018-19 could run up to Rs.4,604 crore across Commercial Banks, Grameen Banks, Co-operative Banks and others, with various Banks in the State sanctioning educational loans to nearly 4 lakh beneficiary students in 2017-18.

Rubbishing allegations that his Government had diverted all funds into the farm loan waiver scheme, leaving all other development works hanging, the CM said that the State's financial status is in good condition.

Pointing out that the Government will start reimbursing Banks from Nov.1, he said that 44 lakh farmers who will benefit from the loan waiver scheme will be issued 'No-debt Certificates.'

50 percent compensation for coffee growers

Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy also said Union Minister for Trade and Commerce Suresh Prabhu had promised to release 50 percent compensation for coffee planters and farmers who had suffered crop loss due to floods and landslides.

The Union Minister had asked for a damage assessment report and a detailed crop loss estimate.

Kumaraswamy clarified that he would not divert the Central funds released for Kodagu flood victims for any other activities.

Widening of NH-275 via Kodagu draws flak

Coorg Wildlife Society President says the project is ill-conceived, destructive and driven by vested interests

Mysuru, Oct.24- The project to widen a section of NH-275 connecting Bengaluru, the commercial capital of Karnataka and Mysuru, the cultural capital, linking it with Mangaluru, Kodagu and parts of Kerala, has received criticism especially in the places like Kodagu that will see widespread destruction of pristine jungles.

Col. C.P. Muthanna

The existing four-lane road will be extended to six-lane in some places and in Kodagu, the existing two-lane road (between Mysuru-Kushalnagar-Madikeri and Madikeri-Mangaluru) will be upgraded into a four-lane Highway. A public hearing on the proposed project was held recently in Madikeri where environment activists and representatives of residents of Kodagu opposed the project as it will destroy thousands of trees.

After the meeting and learning about the project details, President of Coorg Wildlife Society Col. (Retd.) C.P. Muthanna has written to Nitin Gadkari, Union Minister for Road Transport and Highways, Shipping and Water Resources and has stated that the upgradation of the existing two-lane road into a four-lane road was environmentally destructive.

"We are deeply concerned to learn that the proposed four-lane highway will have a width of 70mts in the plains section and 45mts in hill section. This would entail widening of the present road by 6 to 10 times the present width. Such a project would cause a huge loss of green cover in Kodagu district which is the principal catchment of river Cauvery," he stated in the letter.

"The project will be of particular relevance to you as you also hold the portfolio of Water Resources. It may please be borne in mind that much of the road widening will be through coffee plantations that have an average of 350 mature trees per hectare. There are also a large number of wild elephants in the forest area along the road and disturbance due to the tree felling and road construction activity will result in severe ecological damage," he stated.

Col. Muthanna brought to the attention of the Minister regarding floods and landslides in Kodagu during the month of August that resulted in loss of life and damage to property.

"Hundreds of families have been rendered homeless and the relief package announced by the Government is barely Rs.100 crore. In this context, it would he totally unethical to spend over Rs.1,500 crore for a destructive highway project in the same region," he wrote.

He argued that the present density of traffic can easily be accommodated by adding one meter of paved shoulder on either side of the existing two-lane highway instead of upgrading it into a four-lane one.

"As per regulations of National Highways Authority of India, highways are constructed when the traffic density exceeds 10,000 vehicles per day. However, the existing vehicle density is nowhere near this figure in the Kushalnagar-Madikeri section. This is a scam project driven by vested interests. We request you to institute an enquiry on how this project was conceived and book the officials responsible for the illogical project," Col. Muthanna demanded.

In this week's Pet Talk, Maneka tells how to calm a hyper dog and is it okay to give mind-calming medicines to them for composure?

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

What is CPV and how it can be fatal to dogs?

Canine parvovirus (CPV) is a highly contagious and infectious disease that can be fatal for dogs. Puppies aged six weeks to six months are most at risk. Many dogs that are diagnosed with 'parvo' die. The virus attacks cells in a dog's intestines and stops them from being able to absorb vital nutrients. This means that a dog or puppy will become very weak and dehydrated. Symptoms of CPV include foul-smelling diarrhoea with blood in it, vomiting, loss of appetite, collapse, depression, fever and sudden death. CPV attacks a dog's cells in its intestine, meaning it becomes dehydrated and weak. There is no cure, but vaccinating dogs and puppies against CPV will protect them.

How to calm a hyper dog?

1. Exercise: It is very important for your dog to exercise. Take your dog out for long walks regularly.

2. Build a routine around your dog's lifestyle. Food habits should be maintained and feed your dog at regular intervals.

3. Training: Training your dog can also help with the hyperactivity.

4. Introducing new toys for play can divert your dog's attention and reduce the hyperactivity.

Is it okay to give mind calming medicines to hyper dogs for composure?

Mind Calming Drugs are medicines that are administered to dogs who are hyper active. Mind Calming drugs can be administered only with the veterinarian's consultation. But these will impact organs in the body. Perhaps castration is one answer. But first try exercise. To calm a hyper dog, the dog should be taken out for long walks. It is very important for your dog to exercise. Training your dog can also help with the hyperactivity.

Is giving milk to a dog good ?

Giving milk to dogs depends on their lactose tolerance level. What is lactose intolerance? Lactose is a simple sugar found in milk, which requires an enzyme known as lactase to properly digest. Most dogs lack the enzyme lactase in their body, so they can't digest lactose that's contained in the milk they drink. Generally, dogs will get many similar symptoms that you and I would get if we were lactose intolerant and we drank milk that was rich in lactose. If they don't puke, it's alright to give them milk with Roti or Daliya once in a while. Giving only milk as a meal should be avoided. Cow milk also contains a high level of fat, that will lead to bloating in your dog, cramps, vomiting, diarrhoea and sometimes even a very serious and fatal condition called pancreatitis. An alternative to cow's milk, that many people have been turning to in recent years, is goat's milk. Goat's milk has a substantially less amount of lactose than is found in cow's milk, which means lactose intolerant dogs have a very high chance of drinking goat milk without having any health problems later. It contains a lot more calcium than cow's milk. Goat's milk is just a lot tastier than cow's milk. It is rich in vitamins B, D, K, and E. But if you give them curd instead, as a topping with rice, vegetables etc, that is better.

Do dogs also get fever after being vaccinated?

Dogs might get mild fever after being vaccinated, just like humans. Besides mild fever, it is common for pets to experience some of the following side effects:

1. Discomfort and local swelling at the vaccination site.

2. Decreased appetite and activity.

3. Sneezing, mild coughing, "snotty nose", or other respiratory signs, may occur 2-5 days after your pet receives an intranasal vaccine.

If these side effects last for more than a day or two, or cause your pet significant discomfort, it is important for you to contact your veterinarian.

Why do some people hate animals so much?

People might hate animals for many reasons.

Cultural training: People are taught when small that animals are unclean and dangerous and should be avoided. Some religions and cultures believe that animals should be killed — ranging from ants to elephants — not just for eating but because they should not occupy the same space as humans. They believe that animals are simply created for human use, and they pass these beliefs on.

Trauma: If someone has been attacked by a dog, or believed a dog was going to attack them, they might develop a dislike for dogs. For some people, even the notion that a dog could attack, or hurt them, is enough to make them wary.

Antipathy towards the Owner or Befriender: Most of the time, in my experience, the problem is not that people hate animals. They hate, or want to hate, the person who owns the animal or who feeds the animal. And if this person is a lone woman then she is targeted, and animals are made an excuse. Whether she feeds birds or dogs, she will be complained about and warned. If she has animals in her house, the society will be provoked to ask her to get rid of them. This is simply power play and it is done by psychos. Alas, as colonies grow more and more crowded, and people live cheek by jowl, such psychos — and they include men and women — have increased. They are bored and frustrated by their own lives and they need outlets for their anger. And who better to take it out on than animals and their friends.

Just like Colleges and Universities have so many Committees and Clubs, can they have an Animal Welfare Committee?

Many have started at the initiative of the students themselves. It is an important Club to have, as it should learn about animal conservation and animal welfare. It helps the human survive. Children who work with animals are found to be 15% smarter than other children. There is something in the interaction, and in the learning to be compassionate and responsible for weaker beings, that makes these children smarter, more disciplined and considerate.

Jumbos make Dasara jamboree momentous

Role of Forest Staff in grooming elephants earns accolades

By M.T. Yogesh Kumar

Mysuru, Oct. 24 - Arjuna, the incredibly eye-catching Howdah Elephant, and his team of eleven caparisoned elephants who spend much of the year in forest camps of Kodagu and Mysuru Districts, gave a stellar performance during this year's Dasara and became the cynosure of all eyes, attracting lakhs of viewers locally and from foreign lands.

The complete credit of training the elephants goes to their mahouts (elephant handlers) and kavadis (assistant handlers) and not to forget the Forest Department that has the overall responsibility of the smooth conduct of Jumboo Savari — from the process of selecting the elephants, grooming them, bringing them to Mysuru and leaving them back at their respective jungle camps.

It is a round-the-year process where the tamed elephants are identified. Many probable lists are prepared and the last list is usually approved by the Dasara High-Powered Committee. Once the Committee gives its approval, specialists take over the task of meticulously planning the diet, weight-checking, round-the-clock observation and, of course, elephant health.

The Forest Department usually commences identifying the elephants that will be part of the Dasara festivities in August. Every year, the Department selects over 16 elephants. Of these, 12 will take part in the Dasara procession while four is used as back up.

The Department keeps at least four elephants as substitutes as couple of elephants fell sick prior to Dasara jamboree. The idea of having additional elephants is to prepare the second line of elephants who can take on bigger roles in future.

After selecting the additional elephants, a letter is written to the Principal Chief Conservator of Forests, Bengaluru (Wildlife), seeking permission for the additional elephants. Once the higher officer permits the same, elephants would be deployed for Dasara. After obtaining permission both from the Principal Chief Conservator of Forests and also the Dasara High Powered Committee, all the elephants are taken to Mysuru.

Every year, the Forest Department staff plays a significant role by not only taking care of elephants but also mahouts and kavadis and their families who come along with the jumbos and stay in make-shift tents inside the Mysore Palace premises.

The services of the Forest Department officials and staff right from Deputy Conservator of Forests (DCFs), Range Forest Officers (RFOs), veterinarians, kavadis, mahouts, assistants, forest guards and watchers in taking care of these elephants is laudable.

Their services in providing nutritious food, guarding them round-the-clock, training elephants to make them familiar with the Jumboo Savari, acclimatising them to sounds by firing cannons, rehearsal of procession for the D-Day is noteworthy.

A Nagaland Cadre Forest Officer

DCF (Wildlife) Siddramappa Chalkapure

played an active role right from the arrival of the elephants to city till their departure to forest camps. His services in caring elephants received huge accolades from people.

A native of Davargaon village of Bhalki taluk in Bidar district, Siddramappa Chalkapure is a Nagaland Cadre Forest Officer and had served the hilly State for many years.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, the officer said, "I used to see Dasara festivities and the Jumboo Savari on TV before my arrival to Mysuru from Nagaland. I am very happy with the successful conduct of Dasara celebrations. I also thank all my staff for their co-operation and for taking care of elephants during their 45-day stay in city."

RFO Ananya Kumar, who was in-charge of taking care of Dasara elephants during their stay in Mysore Palace also praised the role of mahouts, kavadis and others from his Department for extending support for the successful conduct of Jumboo Savari. He also remembered the contributions of Forest Department staff — Rangaraju, Kumar, Ravikumar, Akram, Prakash and others.

Veterinarian Dr. D.N. Nagaraj said that the Dasara elephants need to be monitored closely round-the-clock apart from taking care of their health and providing nutritious food.

Aiyoh!

enters Oxford Dictionary!

Other words include YOLO (You Only Live Once) and Moobs (Man Boobs)

If you have a habit of saying "Aiyoh" every time you end up in a soup or get yourself hurt, you are not just uttering a spontaneous colloquial term anymore, but it's a word from the English language.

If you are going all "Aiyah" reading this piece of information, there's more coming your way, since the Oxford English Dictionary has included "Aiyoh" and "Aiyah" among 500 new words added to it. Both these expressions are so widely used that it is now in the Oxford English Dictionary.

Like many Indian words, "Aiyoh" and "Aiyah" are loaded and can mean many things depending on context and tone — irritation, disgust, surprise, dismay, pain, lament, disappointment, with "Aiyah" and "Aiyoh" being interchangeable.

The dictionary accurately associates "Aiyoh" with pain and dismay while "Aiyah" is introduced as a term that can denote derision of joy in different contexts. It also adds that the word used commonly in South India actually originated in China, as "Aiyoh" in Mandarin language and "Aiyah" comes from Cantonese.

In addition to these two words used in Malaysia, Sri Lanka and Singapore as well, the dictionary added "YOLO" (You Only Live Once) and "Moobs" (Man Boobs). Another important addition was the word "gender-fluid" — a person who is gender-fluid prefers to remain flexible about gender identity rather than committing to a single gender.

CPI stages protest against Rafale deal

Mysuru, Oct.24 (PM&DM)- Accusing the NDA Government of favouring Reliance defence while ignoring the public sector HAL in the Rafale jet deal, nearly 50 members of the Communist Party of India (CPI) staged a demonstration in front of Mahatma Gandhi's bust opposite the city Law Courts Complex here this morning.

Strongly objecting to the NDA Government's defence sector privatisation plans, the protesters demanded constitution of a Parliamentary Panel to probe the Rafale deal.

CPI office-bearers H.B. Ramakrishna, Basavaraj and others took part in the protest.

'Impose blanket ban on mining around KRS'

Mandya, Oct.24 (NG&SR)- Members of various progressive, Dalit, Raitha Sangha and Women's Organisations staged a protest here recently demanding the District Administration to ban mining and stone quarrying completely around Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) besides fulfilling other demands.

The protesters, shouting slogans against the Police and District Administration, demanded the State government to order a judicial probe into the death of a bonded labour Kariyappa Madar who died under mysterious circumstances at a quarry owned by one Umesh at Hangarahalli in Pandavapura taluk recently.

Condemning the forcible practice of bonded labour system in many parts of the district, they alleged that a woman was forced to practice bonded labour in Maddur taluk. They shouted slogans against the apathy of the District Administration and the Police for not taking any action on the culprits involved in such activities.

Dalit Sangarsh Samithi (DSS) State Convener Keregodu Guruprasad accused that quarry owner Umesh had allegedly slapped his bonded labour Kariappa Madar to death for not returning the loan he had borrowed.

Addressing the protesters, BSP leader Krishna Murthy alleged that Police and District Administration officials have been indirectly supporting the illegal quarrying activities around 20 kms radius of KRS Dam despite the ban order enforced by the Mandya Deputy Commissioner. Shockingly, a majority of labourers who have been working in stone quarries are members of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes.

District Raitha Sangha President Shambunahalli Suresh alleged that illegal mining activities around Baby Betta region has threatened KRS but the Mandya DC has failed to crack down on illegal mining activities that are being carried out brazenly after violating the ban order by stone quarry operators.

Colourful procession marks Valmiki Jayanti

Vishwanath won't quit, says GTD

Reacting to the reported displeasure of State JD(S) President A.H. Vishwanath, who is set to quit on health grounds, District Minister G.T. Devegowda (GTD) dismissed such reports as baseless. "These are just a media creation," he said.

Speaking to reporters after flagging off Valmiki Jayanti procession in city this morning, GTD said Vishwanath, who was recovering from kidney stone and other health problems, will participate in Valmiki Jayanti and other party-related activities from today. People should not give credence to such rumours," he said.

As per reports, Vishwanath was unhappy as former Prime Minister and party Supremo H.D. Deve Gowda and Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy did not visit him (Vishwanath) when he was hospitalised.

When asked about discontent between Congress and JD(S) leaders over the issue of distribution of Dasara passes, MLA Dr. Yathindra Siddharamaiah declined to comment as Dasara festivities passed off peacefully in a grand manner.

The other attraction was the display of erstwhile Vijayanagar dynasty Paleyagars of Nayaka Community and other great personalities. A dozen of them dressed as Veera Madakari Nayaka, Kargalli Maranayaka, Keladi Shivappa Nayaka, Bedara Kannappa, Ekalavya and other great personalities rode the Sarots catching the attention of onlookers. People were seen clicking pictures and selfies of cultural troupes.

The procession passed through K.R. Circle, D. Devaraja Urs Road and culminated at Kalamandira, where a public function was organised.

Speaking on the occasion, Minister G.T. Devegowda remembered the contributions of Saint Valmiki who wrote Ramayana. The life and teachings of Valmiki was always relevant to the society. Valmiki, who was wandering in the forests, emerged as a great epic writer according to mythology, he said.

Heated argument

A war of words ensued between some youths and the Police over the issue of using loudspeakers along the procession route as they had not sought Police permission. But later the issue died down after the intervention of community elders and leaders.

Chamaraja MLA L. Nagendra, Varuna MLA Yathindra Siddharamaiah, former MLA Vasu, Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar, Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) Commissioner P.S. Kantharaj, Zilla Panchayat Planning Officer Prabhuswamy, District Social Welfare Officer Somashekar, Joint Director H.S. Bindia, Assistant Commissioner Shivegowda, Comprehensive Tribal Development Programme Coordinator Prabha, Tahsildar T. Ramesh Babu and others were present.

Stage programme

Later a stage programme was held at Kalamandira where Assistant professor, Department of Psychiatry, Karnataka State Open University Dr. Manjunath delivered a keynote address. Maharshi Valmiki Geetha Gayana programme was also held.

CANADA Calling ...

By K. Vijaya Kumar
Former Jt. Director of Information & Publicity

Promoting tourism with a unique and thrilling flying experience

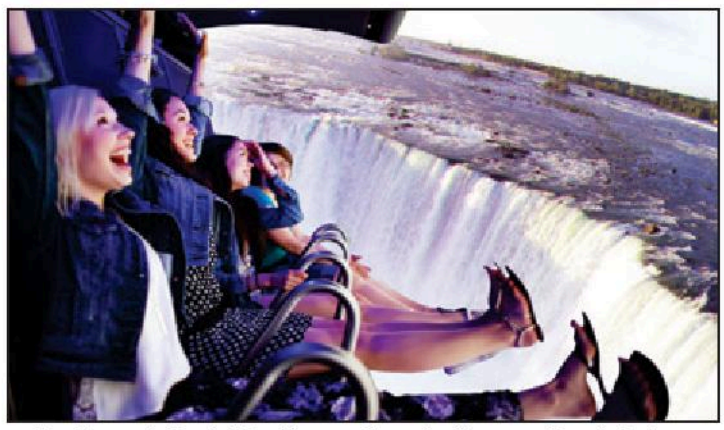
DESTINATION CANADA

The imposing Canada Place Complex with Cruise Ship waiting.

VANCOUVER — A bustling west coast seaport in British Columbia is among Canada's densest, most ethnically diverse cities and a popular filming location. Here, they have established Canada Place, an iconic landmark and venue located in the heart of Vancouver's downtown harbour front. The Canada Place is a venue for world-class events and an inspirational Canadian experience. It is a multi-use facility that includes fun flying rides like 'Fly over Canada' for tourists. 'Fly Over Canada' is a wonderful simulated flight ride which takes us round Canada. The awesome ride is a very creative idea of promoting tourism and an incredibly enjoyable one.

Well, what is this ride? A promotional photo with this article shows how visitors are made to sit and experience the ride. See Canada like never before at this new, all ages ride. It takes off into a huge doomed screen with the latest projection and ride technologies, creating a true experience that took us across Canada.

The ride gave us a real feeling of flight. Participants are air-suspended with their feet dangling before this 20 meter spherical screen, while the film whisks away on an exhilarating eight minute journey across Canada from east to west. Special effects including wind mist, and scents are integrated with the ride motion to create an unforgettable experience. It was indeed an extraordinary show, which has been imprinted in our memories.



Excitement of watching fly over Canada. (A promotional photo — Visitors are not allowed to take their pictures).

Gorgeous Rocky Mountains of Canada: The famous Rocky Mountains of Canada, also known as Canadian Rockies, stretch some 3,000 miles from British Colombia to Alberta in Canada and down to New Mexico in the US. The range offers dramatic wilderness, diverse wildlife and alpine lakes. Human population is not very dense in Canadian Rockies with an average of just four people per Sq.Km. It is one of the most incredible views one can experience in one's life.

Our son had arranged to take us to the mountains from Whistler village, a village about 45 minutes from Vancouver. We ascended the mountains at a height of 7,500 ft. by the Gondola Service (see the photo). And the most thrilling moment here was the helicopter tour over the mountains. The tour was a memorable lifetime experience (see photo). My wife, who remembered teaching her students, about these mountains in her geography class, enjoyed the view and the tour to her heart's content. It was a dream come true for her!

WORD OF THE DAY

Occident

Pronunciation: AHK-suh-dunt

Meaning: Regions or countries lying to the west of a specified; implied point of orientation.

Origin: The history of the word Occident as one can watch a beautiful sunset, but there is a connection. Occident, which comes from Latin "occidere", meaning "to fall," once referred to the part of the sky in which the sun goes down. Geoffrey Chaucer used the word in that now-obsolete sense around 1390 in 'The Man of Law's Tale'. In an earlier work, 'The Monk's Tale', which was written circa 1375, he used the word in the "western regions and countries" sense that we still use. Exactly what is meant by "western" is not always the same. Originally, Occident referred to Western Europe or the Western Roman Empire. In modern times, it usually refers to some portion of Europe and North America as distinct from Asia. The opposite of Occident is Orient, which comes from Latin "oriri" ("to rise").

Example: Virtually every literary magnate of the Occident has found one or more interpreters in modern Japan.

THE ODD WORD

Palpable

Capable of being perceived.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown

Meaning: A person with great responsibilities, such as a king, is constantly worried.

Origin: The original source of this phrase is not known, but William Shakespeare used it in his play, King Henry IV, Part II, in 1597. With little modification, as he wrote, "Deny it to a king? Then happy low, lie down!/ Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown." In Act III, Scene I, King Henry IV says these lines to express how tough his duty of kingship is, and how difficult it is to take such a serious responsibility, which constantly worries him.

Example: The past kings dealt with uneasy lies the head that wears a crown.

QUOTE BOX

The day of the sun is like the day of a king. It is a promenade in the morning, a sitting on the throne at noon, a pageant in the evening.
